BAYS AND COVES OF NOVA SCOTIA

Our harbors and the coast of Buzzards Bay towns are among the finest to be found in the world, so we have a unique appreciation of that kind of seascape. Our cover and photos above and on Page 12 were taken in the bay area of Nova Scotia outside of Halifax where the coast is so sawtoothed that each family seems to own its own cove.

Selectmen's Meeting

NOISE COMPLAINTS

Howard S. Bates, in both a letter of August 5 and in person, complained to Selectman R. William Blasdale that amplified sound and open windows at the Mattapoisett Inn have caused disturbance in the neighborhood. Bates said that the sound is excessive and he complained that lyrics to one of the songs featured by the entertainers "drives the audience to a frenzy" as they join in the chorus and that these lyrics are objectionable to his wife.

Robert Wenstrom, a neighbor on the east side of the Inn, also stated that the amplification of the music disturbs his family. He said that he suggests a soundproofing barrier if the volume cannot be controlled.

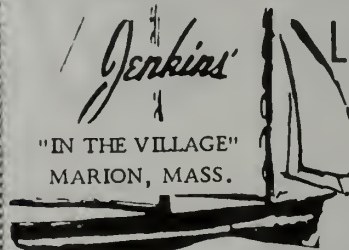

Chairman Blasdale, the only Selectman present at last week's meeting, said that a meeting will be scheduled to discuss the problem with the Inn management.

JURORS DRAWN

Three jurors were chosen for Grand Jury duty: Ann M. Downey, 16 Water Street; Lucille M. Dextraze, 5 Railroad Avenue; and Ruth E. Baker, 44 Long Plain Road.

TELEPHONE CONDUIT HEARING

A hearing was held by petition of the New England Telephone Company seeking permission to install conduit under Crystal Spring Road. No abutators appeared. A decision was deferred when it was learned that this section of road has been newly surfaced and Chairman Blasdale has questions he would like answered by the petitioner.

QUOTE ON AIR CONDITIONING

Executive Secretary Stephen Lombard reported that he had obtained a quote on central air conditioning for the Town Hall of approximately $6000. This would include replacement of a gas fired boiler and would air condition the first floor. It is suggested that central air conditioning be done on that floor only with individual units, if needed, to cool offices in use on the second floor. This figure will be added to the Town Hall renovation proposal bringing the total to $160,000.00.

CABLE TV EXPANDS AREA

Jerry Smith, Business Manager of Bay Cable TV, informed Selectmen by letter that indications point to high interest in cable beyond Mattapoissett Neck Road, Brandt Island and Angelica Avenue. He expects Crystal Spring Road will show enough interest for consideration at this time also. The Neck installation is available as far as West Hill and on Brandt Island Road as far as the Pillars.

REGULATION SUSPENDED

The Massachusetts Community Antenna Television Commission informed Selectmen that regulation of cable rates and charges have been suspended.

AVAILABLE STATE AID

The Massachusetts D.P.W. sent a notice that the amount of $10,110 is available to the Town for state aided construction projects.

ANDERSON IN TOWN

The public is cordially invited to meet Congressman John Anderson and his wife Keke as they make their final appearance in our area before the November Presidential Election.

A Cocktail Reception at Mattapoissett's Harbor Beach Restaurant will be held on Friday, August 15, from 6 P.M. to 8 P.M. A donation of $30.00 Per Person (one half can be taken as a tax credit) will gain admission to this special event which will feature an open bar, hors d'oeuvres and more importantly, a chance for you to hear and question John Anderson about his position on the issues, his recent trip to Europe and the Near East, and his chances at winning this year's Presidential Election.

Following this reception there will be a fund-raising dinner in a private home.

SOLID COLOR STAINS — Linseed Oil or Urethane Latex

- Deep color penetration — Helps avoid deterioration of wood.
- Mildew resistant and blister resistant on properly prepared surfaces.

SEMI-TRANSPARENT STAINS — Linseed Oil or Urethane Latex

- Penetrating finish helps protect against deterioration of wood.
- Weather gracefully without chipping and peeling.
- Performs better than solid color stains on decks, rails and outdoor furniture.
- Water repellant finish fully protects the natural mellowness of wood from the ravages of changing weather patterns

BLEACHING STAIN — Transparent Oil Stain

- A natural transparent oil rich stain that quickly produces a uniform silvery gray antique appearance when exposed to natural weathering

Club is having a Gala Fun Night for anyone interested in learning to square dance or see what it's like. So, come on down for a free night of fun at Our Lady's Angels' Hall, Jessie Street, Fairhaven. The fun starts at 7 p.m. Sunday, September 7th.

Art Center

The recent paintings of Sig Haines will be on exhibit at the Marion Art Center in the Cecil Clark Davis Gallery from August 15 to August 29. The opening reception will be on Friday evening from 6-8 p.m.

A resident of Fairhaven, Haines studied painting at the Swain School of Design in New Bedford, Southeastern Massachusetts University and at The Skowhegan School of Painting in Maine. Haines is currently an instructor at the Swain School.

The gallery is located on the corner of Main and Pleasant Streets in the center of Marion and is open Tuesday through Sunday 1-5 p.m. The gallery is open to the public.

because I live on a "Private Way".

I have difficulty understanding why my living on other than an accepted street should make the placement of a street light by the town prohibited. My tax rate is identical to others residing on public streets; My tax dollars are used to help defer the cost of lighting, plowing, paving, etc of town ways, but I cannot realize these services myself? This is a form of "taxation without representation".

If taxpayers living on private ways do not receive the same type and number of benefits as public way taxpayers, we are being discriminated against. To be fair our tax rate should be lower, but we will continue to subsidize others while being short changed ourselves.

I am running for the office of State Representative because I feel the people of this state are tired of the way their tax dollars are being spent. The state is on the verge of going bankrupt; the Budget calls for 5.9 Billion in spending; but the state is expected to collect only 4.1 Billion in taxes. The people need a strong voice in controlling state government spending. I would like to be your voice in the House of Representatives.

on Top", the touching "People Will Say We're in Love", to the title song itself. Down-home humor, wholesome romance, and youthful aspirations are neatly balanced by the lingering fears, angers, and uncertainties found in all of us. An orchestra composed of twenty-five musicians from all over southeastern New England accompanies the songs and dances, and is directed by Bruce Miller, director of choral and instrumental music at Holy Cross University in Worcester.

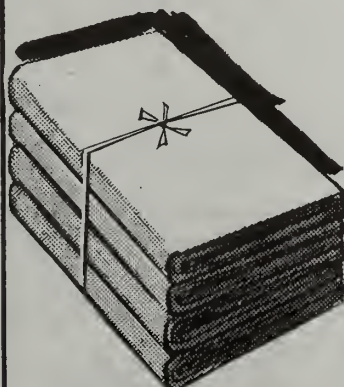

The lead Curly is played by William Thorpe of Boston, who is a widely experienced actor and singer in both operas and musicals. Mr. Thorpe, a baritone, has studied with the New England Conservatory of Music, the Boston Conservatory of Music, and the Philadelphia Music Academy. He has sung and performed with the Boston Summer Opera Theater, Harvard University, the Handel and Haydn Society, Brown University, the New England Conservatory Opera Theater, and the Boston Light Opera, as well as playing piano for Trinity Square Repertory Company, and numerous radio broadcasted church programs.

Playing opposite Thorpe is Victoria Duclos

of Westport. Miss Duclos is a graduate of Bishop Stang and most recently was seen in the Village Players' production of "On Broadway" in 1979. She plays the role of Laurie, the object of Curly's attention.

In this exhibition, the portrait of the whaling master is displayed alongside a portrait of his ship.

The Museum is fortunate in owning many such "pairings", making this unusual exhibition possible.

Museum hours are Monday-Saturday, 9:00 to 5:00; and Sunday, 1:00 to 5:00. Admission is charged; children 6-14 free.

Cheerleading Camp

Registrations are now being accepted for the Annual Cheerleading Camp for girls age eight through eighteen. This popular camp is held at Camp Massasoit in Mattapoisett August 25 through the 27th. Pat Shea Thompson will once again direct this special camp and will be assisted by college and professional cheerleaders and coaches from around New England.

The camp will be conducted from 9 to 4 each of the three days with instruction covering all of the skills necessary to become an accomplished school cheerleader.

Registrations may be obtained by contacting the New Bedford YMCA, or by writing to Camp Massasoit, Box 681, in Mattapoisett.

"California Suite"

The "Unexpected Company" will present its critically acclaimed production of Neil Simon's "California Suite" on August 29 and 30 and September 5 and 6 at 8:30 p.m. at the Wareham Town Hall, Route 6, Wareham. The production will star Paul Hebert, Greg Leonard, Karen Chase, Mary-Alice Sylvia and Kathy Bruce. Tickets will be available at the door.

The production, presented earlier this summer at the Marion Art Center, was met with a host of critical acclaim. "A direct hit on the funny bone, thoroughly enjoyable," said Richard Pacheco of the Standard-Times.

sity Summer Cabaret Theatre continues its production of "Play It Again Sam" in cabaret style this weekend, August 14, 15, 16 and 17, at 8:30 p.m. in the SMU Campus Center.

The cast includes George Charbonneau, co-director of the New Bedford High School Drama Club; Cathy Cabral, Mary Conley, Terry Cooney, Kathy Fontera, Celeste Marien, Marlene Martin, David Perry, Michelle Platt, Barry Smith, and Ellen F. Throop.

"Play It Again Sam", Woody Allen's best-known play, is the comic story of a shy, unsophisticated man who identifies with his screen hero, the suave "Bogey" of "Casablanca".

Tickets may be reserved by calling 999-8167 or 999-8697. Tickets, if available, may also be purchased at the door.

day, August 23, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Bell School grounds, 25 Drift Road, Head of Westport. The event will be held rain or shine under two big tents where members of the society will display their specialties at "card table shops".

Fairgoers can buy a sturdy basket and fill it with choice items they select for purchase from the wide variety of antiques, books, baked beans, cut flowers, fresh vegetables and trinkets from the white elephant tables. There will be toys, handcrafts, and home-baked goodies along with numerous other offerings for sale, too.

Food specialties at the Fair include Johnny Cakes and Sausages, roast corn, cookies, soda and old-fashioned country cheese.

A program of games and prizes, pony rides and even a pet show at 2 p.m. is scheduled just for the children.

A raffle drawing will be held at 2:45 p.m. to determine the lucky winners of the three prizes: a weekend for 2 at the Publick House, Sturbridge, Mass.; 25 pounds of fresh, live native lobster; a $50.00 gift certificate donated by The Westport Apothecary. Tickets will be sold at the fair or may be bought beforehand from any member of the Historical Society, or from Silas Brown, Inc., 786

Sonar Research

TWO SMU PROFESSORS RECEIVE
RESEARCH GRANT

Two professors in the electrical engineering department at Southeastern Massachusetts University recently received a federal grant to continue their research project aimed at refining the use of sonar in detecting underwater objects.

Dr. Lee Estes and Dr. Gilbert Fain have received a grant from the Office of Naval Research for $63,829 for research on Optical Simulation of the Propagation of Sound Waves in the Ocean.

Since 1976, Estes and Fain have been using sophisticated laser equipment to simulate sound waves in a miniaturized marine environment. Ultimately, their findings will aid Naval submarine experts in locating objects not easily detected by ordinary sonar, and will also benefit maritime industries.

Estes holds a Ph.D. in electrical engineering from Worcester Polytechnic Institute. He has been teaching at SMU for the past nine years specializing in optics and communications. Fain, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Rhode Island, has a strong background in ocean engineering. He has been at SMU since 1968.

In the past four years the two researchers have received Navy grants totaling nearly $210,000 to support the project, which they say will be completed in 1981.

Estes is a resident of Mattapoisett and Fain is a resident of Seekonk.

he was cheerful, and would occasionally stop and exchange remarks with me as he passed to and fro. The shouts from the sailors on the fore yard seemed to pass unheard by him, while their members were the chief attraction to me; with my head turned to watch their progress, I had for a few moments forgotten to watch the doings of the Captain, and unconscious of his being close to my back, "Look alive there," rang out from his powerful lungs close to my ear, with such thundering tones, as for the moment startled me from my senses, and I looked about me, expecting to see some impending danger close upon me - but his words had reached the foreyard, and was cheerily answered by an "Aye, Aye, Sir" which from the gale sounded as if from voices far down to the leeward of us, and in a few seconds more, the officers were seemingly sliding down the rigging followed by the sailors, and jumping to the deck, ready for the next emergency. The first officer came to the quarter deck for a consultation with the Captain, and I overheard the latter say in answer to his enquiry if the watch should go below, "Not yet! Order the steward to give them a drink of hot coffee all around", adding in a sotto voice to himself as he turned to walk aft, "I don't like the looks of that fellow", nodding his head towards the heavy black mass laying off our weather quarter. The order for "hot coffee" to be served the crew was one of kindness and care the Captain ever had for the welfare of his men. He allowed no spirits to be used in the forecandle, only his officers, but when extra work was in prospect, or exposure to wind and cold had been endured, he always had a cup of hot coffee to serve out to them at the proper time, and the watch that had stood the gale and the storm for four hours was never sent below, until they had their hot coffee to warm and comfort them. The order on this occasion portended more work in store for all hands, and none could be spared from the deck for the present. The sailors were soon huddling around the galley door with their

The Captain had gone to the cabin but a few minutes before, reappeared with his rubber coat and "Sou-Wester" on, and taking this as a hint that wet work might be looked for, I followed his example, and came back to my former position just in time to hear him order the fore topsail to be clewed up. He was standing about midway between the mizzen rigging and the wheel, leaning against the rail, looking intently into the dense black cloud so rapidly surrounding us, and before his last order had been executed he ordered the topsail to be furled. The ship was now reduced to close reefed main topsail, fore sail, and jib. We were still hanging on to our northern course "close hauled" and making all the western possible. All hands were now on deck, the crew scattered along under the lee of the bulwarks, amidships, were occasionally peering over the rail to get a glimpse of the weather, already to spring to duty upon the instant of call. The officers were eyeing the movements of the "Old Man", evidently expecting some important order from him at any moment. From my position I could see the movements of all; dividing my attention between the Commander and the monster from which we all seemed to expect to be assaulted momentarily. My nerves were strung up to an exciting pitch of imagination, as to what the expected contest might be; when by a sudden gust of the gale, my cap was snatched from my head up in the air a few feet above my head and then sailed off over the deck and lighted in the sea several rods from the ship. This was the initiatory assault, the same gust striking our ship sent her riding and plunging on even with the little canvas we had spread. I could not leave the scene then for another covering to my head, so tying my handkerchief firmly around my head I kept my position. Captain K gave me a smile as he cast his eyes towards me, but was too intently absorbed watching the elements to give utterance to his thoughts.

Westport Choral Concert

The Westport Summer Chorus will present its third annual concert this Friday, August 15, at 8:30 p.m. The program of sacred and secular music will be held at the Westport Point United Methodist Church, Main Road, Westport Point and is open to the public.

Two of the sacred works to be performed by the chorus are Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring by Bach, and Sanctus from Gounod's "St. Cecilia Mass". The secular works will include a spiritual and folk songs as well as a novelty arrangement of Comin' Thru the Rye.

Special guest soloist will be David Wadsworth of Barrington, Rhode Island and Westport Point, who will play compositions of Bach, Chopin and Copland. David is a recent graduate of Barrington High School and has studied piano with Anna Fiore-Smith for the past ten years. He also studied at the Boston University Tanglewood Institute in 1978 and last fall was a winner in the Fall River Symphony Young Artists' Auditions performing with the orchestra a movement of the Schumann Concerto.

The accompanist for the program will be Ruth Hathaway of Fall River, and John Preston will accompany the choral work of Bach on the hammered dulcimer. The program is under the direction of Helen Whipple.

There is no admission charge; however donations will be accepted and appreciated.

REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT SUBJECT OF BANK CORPORATORS MEETING

"Southeastern Massachusetts faces an optimistic future with human and natural resources unexcelled anywhere," corporators of Fairhaven Savings Bank were told at their summer meeting, July 21, by officials of the Southeastern Regional Planning & Economic Development District (SRPEDD) Alexander Zaleski and Stephen C. Smith.

In introducing the speakers, Richard H. Carpenter, president, emphasized the important role of the Corporators, on the one hand, to keep the bank informed as to the financial needs of the area; and how such groups as SRPEDD can supply the essential analysis of long-range goals concerning regional development in which local area banks can effectively become involved. Carpenter stated that while the economic development of southeastern Massachusetts is naturally a prime concern of all, it is a particular responsibility of the financial institutions.

Cranberry World

THE "BIG BAND ERA" IS COMING BACK TO CRANBERRY WORLD VISITORS CENTER

Classic swing tunes of the 1930s and 1940s by such legendary musicians as Glenn Miller, Harry James, Benny Goodman, Duke Ellington and Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey will keep the boardwalk crowd jitterbugging away at Cranberry World Visitors' Center on Sunday, August 17.

The regionally popular "Sounds of Yesterday Band" will play a variety of "Big Band" hits for two rousing hours, beginning at 2 p.m. as part of the free Cranberry World concert series. The 17-member group features performing artists from Plymouth, Scituate, Walpole and Cape Cod.

Sunday's swing program will be the fourth concert in the summer-long series, sponsored by the Ocean Spray cooperative. The season's concerts have already included symphonic, German oompa and jazz bands. A bluegrass show is set for September 14.

In addition to the music, admission-free Cranberry World has a host of intriguing exhibitions and attractions, covering art, nostalgia, technology, and, of course, cranberries.

For example, a diorama depicts a typical cranberry farm (called "bogs" or "marshes"), and vintage artifacts used to grow and harvest cranberries help illustrate the story of this native American fruit. Sculpture by Cabot Lyford of Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire, is being exhibited throughout August. And the year, 1930, is the subject of a special display, celebrating the golden anniversary of the Ocean Spray cooperative.

Cooking demonstrations are also held several times a day and visitors are invited to sample. Free refreshments are also served. The mini-museum is surrounded by three small cranberry bogs, which blossom in early summer and produce thousands of colorful berries in the fall.

Cranberry World is located along the Plymouth waterfront, a quarter-mile from Plymouth Rock and the Mayflower II. Free shuttle bus service is provided between these sites and the visitors' center, which is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through November 30.
